Developer Notes

Page Functionality

- Navigation links on all screen sizes take you to the respective sections since all main content is laid out on a single page.
- A fixed back-to-top button takes you back to the very top of the page in all screen sizes as well.
- The menu navigation panel toggles to a navigation list area at a certain tablet size.
- The introductory video closes automatically after the video has ended.
- The skip button on the video also closes the video.
- At mobile to tablet size, the project section is in the form of a gallery with slider buttons below the image container.
- At mobile size, the images on display in the shop and donate section work as a gallery as well.
- The newsletter section contains buttons for each year that display the contents on click.

Bugs and Errors

- Linking the back-to-top button to the home section did not take the user to the extreme top.
Solution: linked it to the decorative top bar instead.

- Two forms of navigation links contained in one variable displayed error.
Solution: made different variables with two separate functions and events instead.
- Insignificant CSS misinformation made the images in the shop, donate or projects section go a bit too far to the left or a bit too far to the right.
Solution: increased the offset by a very small number.
- Video does not stop playing audio after it is closed by clicking skip.
Solution: video pause as well as close on clicking skip
- Video is only meant to play once for a user's first time on the website. Refreshing the page will play the video again and again.
Unresolved.
